New dog bylaw
has teeth

Elk Point Town Council gave first reading last Monday evening to a new Dog Control Bylaw which, if passed, will give the Town the power to impose large fines on dog owners who do not follow its regulations. The proposed bylaw includes the Vicious Dog Act, which would add further to the safety of town residents.

Dog control has been a longstanding issue in Elk Point, but Mayor Ed Buck says he has "no problem with people having dogs if they look after them." Responsible dog ownership includes obtaining a licence for the pet and ensuring it does not annoy other residents by barking, as well as the physical care of the animal.

In other business coming before Council, a need for a baseball diamond at the Recreation Park was considered. The Town will look into the cost of enlarging the infield to make one of the existing diamonds safer for baseball. If this were done, the fence could be moved back at a later date.

Mayor Buck noted that the three inch water line used to fill the Golf Course reservoir goes between two of the ball diamonds, and could have a 'T' installed with which to water the diamonds if the need arose.

A request for a street light between 50 and 51 Streets on 51 Avenue will not be filled at this time. Council did agree to the need for a review of street lighting in town, whether done by Alberta Power or by Town workers.

The Pioneer Circle Seniors have donated a generous $2500 to the Town as thanks for such duties as snow removal from the parking lot at their Recreation Centre. Council agreed Monday night to forgive the taxes on their new property, which is destined to become an additional parking lot, for the balance of 1994.

Community Cultural Building Society chairman Marshall Kachmar will be invited to attend an upcoming Council meeting to discuss the status of that organization, which is

Come to the fair!

Elk Point and District Agricultural Society is well known for their hosting of one of the best bench show fairs in the Lakeland. This longstanding tradition will continue this weekend, with exhibits being taken from 12:00 noon to 3:30 p.m. on Friday, August 12, and public viewing on Saturday, August 13 from 2:00 to 7:00 p.m. Prizes will be awarded at 7:00 p.m. Saturday, as the fair winds down for another year.

All your favorite categories are listed in the Fair Books, which are available at the Elk Point Review office and from Fair Board members. Entry tags, which must be fastened to each entry, are available from the same sources. Sections are listed below, with the convenors' phone numbers for further information.

Baking has 34 categories to suit your specialties. Convenor is Lyn Young, 724-2149.

Fresh Fruit should be a big section this year, with 20 categories, convened by Cecile Sadowinski (724-2152).

Canning season is underway, and if you would like to show off your talents in that department, there are no less than fifty categories for you to enter. Convenor is Lois Yaremkevich, 724-3823.

House Plants, with 45 categories, is convened by an expert at plant care, Maryann Kozicky (724-2184).

Grains and Hay offers 24 opportunities for farmers in the area to display the pride of their fields. Glenn Flanders is the convenor, 724-2269.

It's time to raid the garden for the Vegetable section, with 47 categories covering everything from beets to zucchini. Katherine Shymkiw is the convenor, 724-2187.

If your green thumb has resulted in beautiful blooms, enter any of the 44 categories in the Flowers section, convened by Terri Kopeck (724-4165).

All those crafts you've been working on for the past year should go in the Arts, Crafts and Hobbies section convened by Lee Johnson, 724-4450.

If Knitting, Crocheting and Weaving is your area of expertise, your convenor is Ellen Seward, 724-2345.

Sewing has both adult and junior sections and is convened by Gloria Zarowny (724-4374).

Photography is once again convened by Lillian Demchuk (724-2430), with this year's Meet The Challenge section for pictures that represent the word 'Couples.'

Kids! Be sure to bring down your entries for the Junior Fair convened by Gisele Pederson (645-5919). There are categories for artwork, crafts, baking and collections, so check out the fair book and enter your summer projects.

Creative Writing has open, senior and junior classes for all ages of writers. Vicki Brooker (724-3870 or 724-4087) would love to have your writing on display at this year's fair.

Senior Citizens over 60 years of age have categories for crafts, baking, woodworking and flower arranging. Diane Young (724-2588) is the convenor.

Matthews wins national gold

Bruce Campbell
Staff Writer

When North East Alberta Track Club's Joni Matthews wins gold medals at a track and field meet, it doesn't catch too many people by surprise these days. After all, Matthews has had the Midas touch all year, bringing more gold home than Cortez took from the Aztecs.

But when the 15-year-old Matthews won two gold medals at the National Legion Camp Track and Field Championships in Ottawa, it even caught NEAT coach Reg Green, by surprise.

That's because Matthews

won her gold medals on the track and not in the pits.

Matthews won the midget girls 200 metres and was a member of Alberta's gold-medal winning 4x100 relay team. Though she didn't win gold in the long jump, where she was defending champion, she came close. Matthews won the silver medal with a leap of 5.44, just two centimetres short of the winning jump of 5.46.

"It shouldn't be a surprise but it is," Green said with a laugh about Matthews gold-medal performance in the 200 metres. "You wouldn't expect it because she was second (on the Alberta team) going down there."

Matthews ran the best 200 metres of her life in Ottawa, with a personal best time of 25.71.

Her previous best was 25.78.

"It wasn't a huge difference but it's still a personal best," Green said.

In the long jump, Matthews took a brief lead with a leap of 5.44 metres. But she couldn't hold it as a jumper from New Brunswick jumped 5.46 metres. Matthews was unable to jump farther than 5.46 in her last attempt and had to settle for the silver medal.

Matthews also finished fourth in the 400 metres.

Glen Cherniwchan also turned in a top 10 performance for NEAT in Ottawa. Cherniwchan finished 10th in the juvenile boys' triple jump. Cherniwchan jumped 12.03 metres in Ottawa.

Green said he wouldn't be surprised at all to see the 16-year-old Cherniwchan back at the nationals next year.

"This is his first year as a juvenile, so he'll have another kick at the can next year," Green said.

He doesn't think Matthews will have any major problems as she moves up from midget girls (14 and 15 years old) to juvenile (17 to 18) next year.

"I think the move will be basically invisible," Green said.

He added he will consider moving Matthews up to junior women's competition for some meets next year.

One move that Matthews will make definitely won't be invisible. Her family is moving to Hughendon. However, Matthews will continue to train with NEAT.

inactive at this time. The Town would like to see the money sitting in the society's coffers returned to the donors.

The imminent closure of Elk Point Courthouse is of grave concern to Council, who intend to write to MLA Paul Langevin to see if anything can be done to avert the closure, with a copy of the letter going to the Minister. The courthouse reportedly has a case load well in excess of 800 over the 28 sessions per year, which brings numerous people to Elk Point. "It will sure take a lot of business away from town," was the comment of Councillor Mae Hendrickson, while Mayor Buck queried "what really costs them so much to have it here?"

Council will be taking a brief break from their regular meeting schedule, with the August 15 meeting cancelled. The next regular Council meeting will be on Tuesday, September 6, 1994.

DEDICATED TO THE FORCE - Auxiliary RCMP Rob Harms (right) was presented with a certificate of appreciation last week by Sgt. John Humphrey, in recognition of 724 hours of volunteer time with the force in 1993. Humphrey noted that the job is "totally voluntary, with no remuneration and mostly night shifts... it's good to have people come out who care about their community." Harms, an Auxiliary member since October 16, 1992, says he willingly contributes the time because "I enjoy it."

Follow the footprints to food and fun!

Where are those footprints going?

You've seen them on the door of Plaza 75 Mall, so you open the door, head down the hall, make a right turn and there you are: at Elk Point's newest business, Footprints Subs and Arcade.

Inside, it's cool to look at, with a relaxing mauve, beige and black color scheme, and cool to sit down in -- the air conditioning is great! A number of small tables and comfortable chairs invite you to stop awhile and enjoy the town's newest taste treat -- f made-to-order submarine sandwiches.

That's Roger Smith, son of Ron and Sharon, behind the counter, busily lining up the ingredients on a small, medium or large submarine bun. With a week and a half's practice, he's already served up 30 dozen subs -- Super, Club, Italian, Cheddar Crab, Turkey, Roast Beef, Ham, Veggie, you name it, with pop, juice, coffee and potato chips to round out the meal, or even some barbecued chicken wings. Already he's talking about adding to the menu, maybe a sub that's really unique, with a Mexican flavor to it, and maybe a soup-of-the-day when the weather cools down a bit.

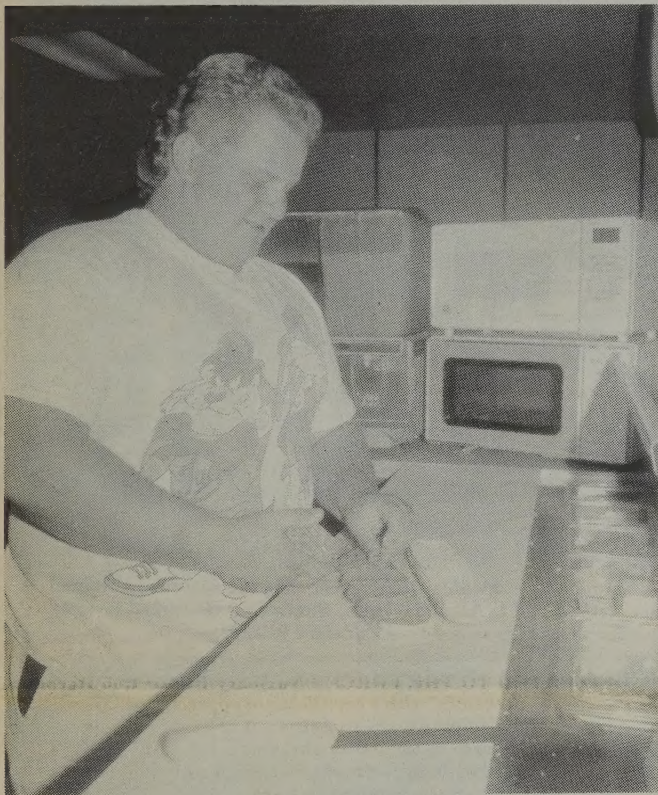

The blacklighted back room echoes with the sounds of six video games, four of them top-of-the-line, and balls clicking on two pool tables. There is also air hockey and foosball to enjoy right now, and more games coming in early September.

This is already a popular spot with the younger set, and "every day we do a little better business," Ron Smith said, adding that all ages of people are coming in to check it out and enjoy a sub in cool comfort. "When school starts, it will really take off."

The store opened at the end of July after a month of renovations, and Roger, as the proprietor, has been a busy guy since then, working basically 7 days a week, 10 a.m. to midnight, but having a great time. Drop in and see him soon.

Bonnyville museum salutes fur trade

Bonnyville Museum has taken on a fur trade flavor with the official opening of the Angus Shaw Trading Post last Sunday.

Angus Shaw was a Hudsons Bay Company trader who operated Shaw House on the northwest shore of Moose Lake from 1789 to 1792. The handsome new cabin, with split-log roof, would have been a fitting home for a trader of those days, with its interior walls hung with traps of all kinds, a beaded buckskin shirt, moccasins and 'possibles' bag sharing space with a bear hide above the spruce bough bed covered with a cosy buffalo hide. Tin tableware was set out on a wide shelf under the window, ready for a quick meal, and the rafters were stacked with stretchers for all types of furs. The trading area has walls hung with hides, and offers a man-sized handwoven sash, such as the voyageurs wore, for just 18 beaver hides. A lump of pemmican on the counter indicates that this was another medium of exchange.

The ceremonies themselves had a distinct fur-trade flavor, with buckskins, sashes and tasseled voyageur hats much in evidence. The 'ribbon' cut to officially open the building was a wide rawhide strip, and the entertainment featured a voyageur song and old time music. The Bonnyville Native Friendship Centre served up bannock, while displays by the Alberta Trappers Association, Alberta Fish and Wildlife and native crafters all fit in with the theme. The Long Lake Cree Nation provided a teepee for the occasion.

The new display gives the fast-growing museum another dimension to an era of history previously represented by a handsome chainsaw carving of Angus Shaw, against a river-scene backdrop, created by St. Paul carver Herman Poulin.

Except for a fine display of arrowheads and other artifacts gleaned from a archaeological dig at Ethel Lake, the balance of the museum deals with more modern history, from the time of white settlement onward. A replica of the Durlingville School, the original Ardmore United Church, the first frame building built in Bonnyville in 1908 and a miniature church packed with artifacts and mementos of the early days of the Roman Catholic Parish of St. Louis help to tell the story of home life, church and school in the early days. A large shed and an outdoor display show the tractors, machinery and farm equipment which helped to turn forest to fertile land. A huge traction engine used to break the virgin sod is the centerpiece of this display.

A red, white and blue striped chuckwagon with a B & R Eckels tarp is another outdoor display, with this theme continued inside the main museum building in a section entitled "Wagon Trails to Glory." The collection of photographs, trophies and memorabilia pays tribute to the late and great George Normand, as well as to Bonnyville's other well known teamsters: Ray and Bert

Croteau, Ralph and Jeff Hallwachs. An affectionate look at the outriders and a brief history of the sport of chuckwagon racing complete the section, which features videotaped races from the Calgary Stampede.

Also in the main building are displays of household equipment and furnishings, wartime mementos, antique tools, a model train, Ukrainian embroidery, history books from a wide surrounding area, and for this year, a large collection of teddy bears honoring the International Year of the Family. Two large showcases are filled with the work of Clementine Poitras and her sisters, who have created a multitude of miniatures from leather and papier mache, with appropriate furnishings to give these little people a world of their own.

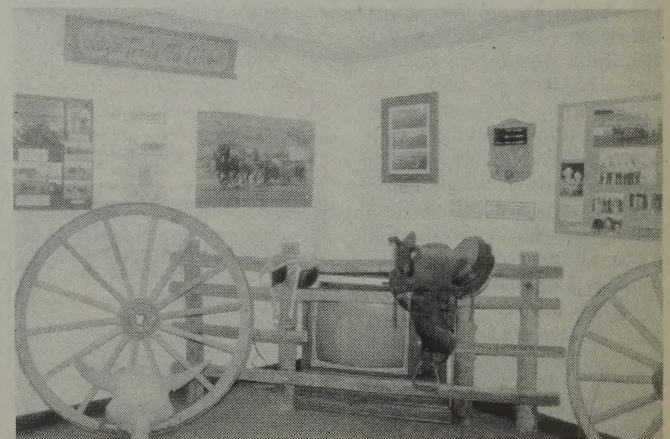

A visit to this new and innovative museum is definitely worth the trip to Bonnyville, and the staff would be pleased to show you around. Combine this with a drive around one of the scenic lakes in the area for a mini-vacation to remember.

Come to the fair!

FUR TRADER ANGUS SHAW - overlooks his new Trading Post (far right) from a red shale and concrete mound in front of Bonnyville Museum.

WAGON TRAILS TO GLORY - is a new display at Bonnyville Museum completed just a short time before the untimely death of George Normand, one of the chuckwagon drivers featured in the exhibit.

Sherry Pelech
Tourist Information Clerk

Here at the Tourist Information Center (TIC) we do try our best to answer every question as promptly and accurately as possible. Sometimes, though, we have little misunderstandings.

One day a lady in a hurry stuck her head in the door and asked, "Long distance to St. Paul?"

"Oh no," we replied. "It's only about twenty minutes."

She looked puzzled. "On the telephone?"

"Oh. Sorry. By phone it's less than a minute," we said helpfully.

When we realized she meant "Are there long distance CHARGES?" we started to laugh. We tried to explain we had misunderstood her and that, no, there were not long distance charges to St. Paul, but the lady had backed away and left.

What's News at the Library

Collection grows with donated books

Michele Duczek
Librarian

One way in which many people contribute to the library is through the donation of previously read books, especially paperbacks. I've added a few of these donations to the collection this past week. Look for them on the new book shelf:

Dust Devil by Kenn Sherwood Roe has Marshal Landry searching for a missing prospector in the Nevada desert and stumbling upon a gang of ruthless outlaws led by an old nemesis. The Invitation by Jude Deveraux is really three short novellas set in the same place but different times. Fans of Deveraux will read some familiar names.

The Judas Cloak by Walter Winward is the action-packed tale of a brother who discovers his war-hero brother did not die in a POW camp but was instead executed as a Nazi informant. A special twist is that these guys are Canadian.

Dirk Gently's Holistic Detective Agency by Douglas Adams is another wild and wacky foray into literature by the man who brought us The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy. Anyone who has read the so-called Hitchhiker Trilogy (now up to Book 5) will enjoy this romp into the unusual.

In addition to these donations, we have also received another book for our Reading Rodeo collection. White Dynamite and Curly Kidd by Bill Martin Jr. and John Archambault with illustrations by Ted Rand captures the excitement of an eight second bull ride as seen through the eyes of the bullrider's young child. Check out the surprise ending. (I'm not giving it away).

The Friends of the Library's next bingo is on August 18, a Thursday evening. Any Friend interested in working this bingo can sign up at the library or at the Review.

Elk Point United Church welcomes new minister

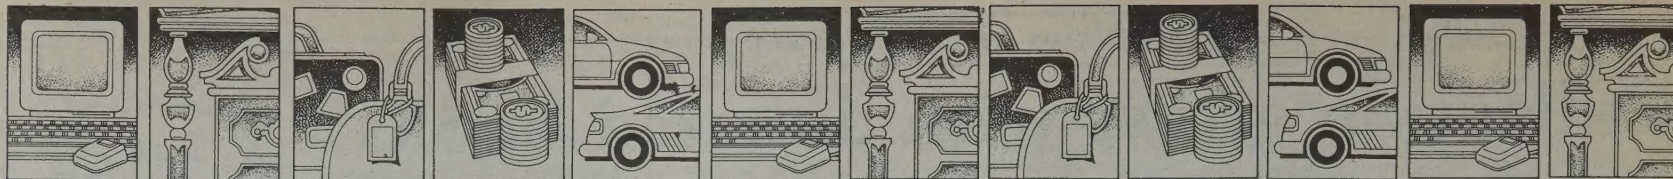

Diana Anderson
United Church Board Member

We are pleased to inform the community that Reverend Norman and Mrs. Jill Hartley will be joining us this month. They presently reside in York, Ontario and were looking to move out west to a small rural community.

Rev. Hartley has been working with people in various leadership roles including a period of time in the Air Force as an officer, pilot, teacher and administrator. He also has a rural background as a landowner and management consultant. Both he and Mrs. Hartley have been very involved in community organizations such as Scouts and Cubs, youth groups, etc. They enjoy music; both sing in the choir and like to visit with the elderly in lodges and nursing homes.

We have been busy painting and reshingling the manse in preparation for their arrival. While here for an interview this summer, they had an opportunity to camp at Ross Lake and to visit and explore Elk Point and area, and are very excited about joining us. As soon as we have the exact date of their arrival, there will be a welcoming social at which the community will have an opportunity to meet them.

Reverend Norman Hartley will be ministering on a full-time basis and will conduct his first service September 4 at 10 a.m. If you have need of a minister in the meantime, please call 724-3616 and arrangements will be made to meet your needs.

TENNIS NEWS

Irwin Easthope

Instructor

Hi, everyone! This past Friday a few kids from St. Paul came down to play a tournament with us. It was really a lot of fun. Now that we have connected with the towns around us, hopefully the tennis clubs around the area will grow. Even though we won all the games, they still want us back next Friday.

Outrider /driver wins Unity races

Roger Moore, who took a momentary break from his career as a champion outrider to try his hand as a chuckwagon driver for the first time two weeks ago at St. Walburg, won his first race meet this past weekend at Unity, Saskatchewan.

The meet got off to an inauspicious start for Moore, with a 7th place, 1:17.24 second run Saturday, but picked up the pace Sunday to clock in at 1:14.63. His total time of 2:31.87 was just under half a second faster than second place finisher Ray Mitsuing. Jim Knight placed third in the meet.

In addition to driving at Unity, Moore outrode in 6 of the 9 heats. This young man bears watching, as if he continues this pace, he could win both the Champion Outrider and Rookie Driver of the Year awards for 1994.

Results from Cheyenne Frontier Days have finally arrived. Bert Croteau won the meet, with Buddy Bensmiller's outfits placing second and third. Both Croteau and Bensmiller broke Cheyenne's track record time of 1:09.36 during the final performance, Bensmiller clocking a 1:09.23 which Croteau then bettered with a 1:08.50.

Brian Laboucane leads the NPCA overall standings with just one race meet, Loon Lake, which goes August 13 and 14 with 42 wagons entered - to go before the finals. Ray Mitsuing is second, with Buddy Bensmiller third and Ray Croteau fourth.

Region 12 physicians prepare to participate in health reform

ST. PAUL -- Physicians throughout Health Region 12 are preparing to participate in regionalization and health care reform.

They realize that working together, and combining their medical expertise, will help to ensure that quality care is maintained during the transition to regionalized health care.

A Medical Advisory Working Group, including representatives from throughout the region, will represent physicians in future discussions with the newly appointed Regional Health Authority and other health care professionals involved in health reform.

"The physicians of region 12 recognize the need for reform and look forward to being actively involved in the process," says spokesperson Dr. Harvey Woytiuk of St. Paul. "At the same time, physicians feel that regionalization will dramatically change the delivery of health care. We want our patients to know that we're prepared to participate in health care reform and the changes ahead. We want to ensure that Region 12 residents continue to receive quality medical care.'

Members of the Medical Advisory Working Group are: Dr. Eugene Cahill, Sherwood Park, 464-0123; Dr. Mark Godel, Grand Centre, 594-3458; Dr. Glynn Jones, Vegreville, 632-2822; Dr. Peter Lindsay, Lac La Biche, 623-4344; Dr. John Murphy, Bonnyville, 826-3346; Dr. László Torok-Both, Fort Saskatchewan, 998-7757; Dr. Harvey Woytiuk, St. Paul, 645-3331.

To keep pace with the uncertainties and ongoing change, the widespread group is meeting electronically every two weeks.

"As partners in the provision of quality health care, physicians and the regional health authority can work together to plan and provide the best health care possible for the residents of our region," adds Dr. Woytiuk. "Physicians are available and willing to provide their medical expertise. We look forward to continuing to provide efficient, effective health care in the future."
